PRODUCTION NOTES

This Pantomime can be staged as simply or as lavishly as your facilities allow. Suggestions for basic settings are as follows:

ACT ONE

- Scene 1 Black front tabs with areas down left and right lit. The tea urn for the running gag should be permanently set down right.
- Scene 2 Full set with backcloth or cyc. The laundry with practical door is the only large piece of scenery required. All the rest can be flats or curtains.
- Scene 3&5 Front cloth or running tabs
- Scene 4 A small inset or another set of tabs with furniture set in front.
- Scene 6 A three-quarter set backed by a cloth. The washing machine can be a simple three-sided piece plus top with a hinged lid. If it is possible to create bubbles either from a bubble machine or foam, so much the better. The washing machine should be set by the wings to allow the operator access. The explosion can be a maroon or sound effect.
- Scene 7 A second front cloth or running tabs. The rock piece is set stage left and the cave opening is operated from the wings.
- Scene 8 Rock pieces at various heights can be set on an open stage and backed by a set of black tabs. If limited space does not allow for a full transformation, the black tabs could open part way to show the cyc. and sunlight outside. Props should ensure that the jewels paraded before Aladdin be as bright and colourful as possible.

ACT TWO

- Scene 1 Repeat Act 1 Scene 2 with the addition of some hanging Chinese lanterns.
- Scene 2, 4&6 A third front cloth or repeat Behind the Laundry or running tabs.
- Scene 3 This scene can be backed by a cloth or cyc. with balustrade and three arches downstage of it. The rest of the scenery can be richly coloured drapes if pillars are not practical.
- Scene 4A* This scene is only possible if realistic looking flying carpets can be used. These could be trucks or scissor lifts with carpets on top and smoke or dry ice for cloud effect.
- Scene 5 As Scene 3 but with distant palm trees and/or pyramids visible through the arches.
- Scene 7 If it is possible to do a 'finale walkdown' all the better. If not then repeat Act 2 Scene 3.

* A flying carpet device is available. If you would like more details on the device and the availability and hiring charge, contact:

Effects

Effects can be expensive and are not essential to the success of your production. If it is possible to use flashes, so much the better, but a simple lighting effect followed by a blackout while the Slave or the Genie enters works just as well.

Notes on the washing machine are covered in the Laundry scene description.
The tea urn should be just a prop. It is advisable to mime drinking the tea so liquid is not spilt and the scenes keep going.

Characters

Abanazar: The villain of the piece. Interacts with the audience and must always retain the upper hand when the 'booing' starts.

Princess Jasmine: Principal Girl. Lovely to look at but with a mind of her own and a determined nature. Strong singing voice required.

Emperor: Fussy and authoritative father figure.
With slight alterations to the script, this part can be played as an Empress.

Notsoshy: Handmaiden to the Princess. A forthright 'jolly hockey-sticks' type of girl, perhaps with a slight lisp. Comedy interaction with Wishee Washee.

Sergeant Chop: A Policewoman. Knock-about comedy part with a sharp 'official' delivery.

PC Suey: A Policeman. Other half of a comedy duo. Slow on the uptake. It is funnier if he is taller than Chop.

Slave of the Ring: She is the magical equivalent of a curvy, glamorous model. Her make up should be as exaggerated as possible and her costume decorated with many accessories. She should look stunning, so when she speaks it is a total contrast to her looks. Her accent could be any inner city, but Liverpudlian works well.

Genie of the Lamp: Physically he should be quite stunning. He is a 'cool' character and makes much of the rap dialogue.

A note about the rap. If, in rehearsal, more modern rap phrases or words are found to work, please feel free to alter them. But always keep in mind that 'less is more' and don't overdo the speeches.

Aladdin is first and foremost a pantomime adventure and the action should not let up for a moment. Every pantomime needs pace and this one in particular relies on speed of dialogue.

The comedy sequences, of course, must be timed, but the rest of the action must move swiftly along to ensure the maximum audience enjoyment.

The placing of musical numbers and who sings them is suggested in the script, but it is up to the director to decide what to use.

A word of advice: Pantomime audiences – particularly the younger members – like to story to keep moving, so don't make the musical sequences too long, especially the ballads. I recommend no number should be more than two minutes.

I hope you enjoy doing this version of 'Aladdin' and have a great success with your production.

ACT ONE
SCENE 1 ABANAZAR'S LAIR IN EGYPT

[A dimly lit scene taking up the area Down Left. The imposing figure of ABANAZAR stands holding a large ancient looking book. On the middle finger of one hand HE wears an impressive ring. HE reads, quickly turning the pages until he finds what he is looking for.]

ABANAZAR At last! At last! The ancient rhyme to complete the puzzle that I have been trying to solve for years. The whereabouts of a magic lamp. A lamp that holds the power to make me the greatest magician in the whole Universe! [HE recites, reading from the bottom of the left-hand page.]
 From ancient times a hidden cave
 Holds wonders to behold.
 Jewels and rings, exquisite things
 Of silver and of gold.
 But most of all a magic lamp
 That brings you everything,
 Is waiting to be found by you
 Just outside [HE looks up at the right-hand page.]
 Watford Junction?? [Or local town.]
 That can't be right. [HE looks again and then exclaims.] Oh no! A page is missing! All these years of searching and I still don't know the answer. [HE snaps the book shut.] I know I'll get my servant – the Slave of the Ring – to tell me. [HE rubs the ring on his finger. The SLAVE OF THE RING appears down right. She is a voluptuous vision with heavy make-up and long fluttering eye lashes. She poses seductively against the pros arch.]

ABANAZAR [Taken aback.] Good grief! What happened? Are you the same person?

SLAVE [As common as muck!] Yeah, it's me chuck! I decided to have a make-over since I started watching Love Island!

ABANAZAR Well, I must say I approve of the change.

SLAVE Yeah, it's really got the boys in the Pyramids excited! Yer know wot I mean? [SHE gives a raucous laugh.]

ABANAZAR If only we can do something about the voice!

SLAVE Wot yer mean? What's wrong wiv me voice?

ABANAZAR Nothing that a course in elocution would solve!

SLAVE 'ere, I've been elocuted!

ABANAZAR Yes, by – [Name of Eastenders character.] no doubt! Anyway, enough of all this. I need to know the last line of the rhyme.

SLAVE What rhyme is that?

ABANAZAR [Impatiently.] The rhyme in this book that tells me where the magic lamp is.

SLAVE But I've told you a thousand times darlin', I ain't allowed to divulge its whereabouts. You gotta solve the riddle yourself.

ABANAZAR Couldn't you give me a little hint?

SLAVE No, sorry chuck.

ABANAZAR Oh you're no use to me at all.

SLAVE Well if that's how you feel I'm off.

ABANAZAR No. Wait. [Attempting to be nice.] If I have a guess, could you tell me if I'm right or wrong?

SLAVE Well

ABANAZAR Oh go on. I can make it worth your while!

SLAVE Cheeky! OK read it out again.

ABANAZAR [Getting excited and quickly scanning the rhyme again.] But most of all the magic lamp that brings you everything. Everything! It has to be a place that rhymes with everything?

SLAVE Clever you!

ABANAZAR Tring? [SLAVE shakes her head.] Worthing? [SLAVE shakes her head again and rolls her eyes.] Woking? No. No. A lamp wouldn't be found in places like that. It's a mystical piece. From the East. That's it. It has an oriental origin. [The penny drops.] I've got, I've got it! Peking! It's in Peking in China. [Looking at the SLAVE.] I'm right, aren't I?

SLAVE Well it's ten out of ten for effort, anyway!

ABANAZAR [Delighted with himself.] Oh I'm brilliant. And when I get the lamp I shall be even greater.

SLAVE But you've got to get it first.

ABANAZAR That'll be easy. I know the magic word to open hidden caves and then I'll just walk in and claim it for myself.

SLAVE [Slowly shaking HER head.] Oh no no no no

ABANAZAR No?

SLAVE That ain't no good dear.

ABANAZAR What do you mean?

SLAVE Well – [SHE recites the next part monotoned, as though remembering the rule.] The cave has a protective power surrounding it. Only an innocent youth who has no prior knowledge of what the lamp can do may enter the cave. [In her natural voice again.] If a scheming old sorcerer like you should go in, all the treasures would vanish into the mists of time and the cave will reseal itself. [SHE gives another piercing laugh.]

ABANAZAR [Angry at what she called him but restrains himself.] Then Slave of the Ring I command you to locate such a youth who will assist me in my quest.

SLAVE I do know of a cute geezer what resides in the city of Peking.

ABANAZAR [Frustrated.] Well? His name? His name?

SLAVE His name is Aladdin, son of a laundry woman.

ABANAZAR Then take me to his home straight away.

SLAVE What right now?

ABANAZAR This very minute.

SLAVE But I'm meeting the lads!

ABANAZAR This instant. Do my bidding or suffer the consequences.

SLAVE Alright. Alright. Don't get your beard in a twist. [SHE looks off stage, puts her fingers in her mouth and give a loud whistle.] 'Ere lads. Get me a voddie and tonic. I'll be back soon.

ABANAZAR Now, Slave. Now!

SLAVE [SHE clears her throat and chants.]
Aladdin is the youth we seek,
So in old Peking we'll take a peek!

[SHE makes a pass and the lights blackout. The scene changes to

SCENE 2 OUTSIDE THE TWANKEY LAUNDRY

[Stage left is Widow Twankey's Laundry. Stage right has other buildings and all have an oriental design. The backcloth depicts a continuation of the street and in the distance we can see the Emperor's Palace. Other buildings' facades are seen up stage including the Imperial Baths up right. Other entrances are down stage right and left. A ledge is attached to the false proscenium on which is situated an oriental tea urn and cup. A sign above it reads. "China Tea. – Soothing and Calming." As the scene opens it is a hive of activity with the CHORUS singing the opening song.]

OPENING NUMBER

[After the number a police siren is heard off. Music from a TV Police Series is played. The lights black out and SERGEANT CHOP enters. SHE is wearing a Chinese police outfit in yellow with red trimming. A British police helmet with a flashing blue light on top. SHE is a typical sergeant, full of self-importance and always on duty. As SHE arrives centre stage the lights return.]

CHOP PC Suey? PC Suey, where are you?

SUEY [Off.] Coming Sergeant. [HE runs on also wearing a Chinese police outfit, British helmet but only one glove. Quite the opposite of the Sergeant HE treats everything as a bit of a joke. HE bumps into CHOP and EVERYONE laughs.]

CHOP What do you think you are doing?

SUEY Sorry Sergeant.

CHOP We are the pride of the Peking Police Force, not some pantomime knockabout team!

SUEY [Having heard it all before.] No Sergeant.

CHOP We must conduct ourselves with the utmost professionalism.

SUEY [Rolling eyes.] Yes Sergeant.

CHOP What's the motto of the Peking Police Force?

SUEY [Not listening.] Three bags full, Sergeant!

CHOP WHAT?

SUEY [Realising.] Er – I mean – always do your duty.

CHOP Right. And don't you forget it. [Notices his gloved hand.] Why are you only wearing one glove?

SUEY Well I heard the weather forecast this morning. [Gestures with glove-less hand.] It said it was going to be warm – [Holds up gloved hand.] – but on the other hand it might turn cold! [ALL laugh.]

CHOP You idiot! [SHE addresses the CHORUS.] Now listen everyone. I have a special announcement. As protectors of the royal personages it has come to our attention that a stranger has been climbing the tree outside the Palace garden to get a quick butchers at her Highness, Princess Jasmine.

SUEY [Not hearing correctly.] Princess Has Been?

CHOP Jasmine, idiot.

SUEY You can't call the Princess an idiot.

CHOP Shut up! [Continuing.] As I was saying, a stranger has been seen trying to look at the Princess, which as you all know is a very serious crime with the most severe punishment. [ALL react.]

SUEY Ohhh yes. It's horrible. [HE starts to describe graphically.] First they hang you upside down by the ankles and throw rotten vegetables at you. Then they put you in the stocks and throw rotten meat at you! You end up in a right stew! [HE comes face to face with CHOP who is staring at him.]

CHOP When you've quite finished.

SUEY Sorry Sergeant.

- CHOP There is a price on this ruffian's head, so if anyone sees a lad in –
[At this point ALADDIN enters up right and waves to the crowd.]
- 1st MAN Hello Aladdin.
- CHOP [Not seeing ALADDIN.] - yes, a lad in the vicinity of the Emperor's Palace, they must report it to one of us at once. [ALADDIN moves to one side. CHOP and SUEY are not aware he is there.]
- 1st WOMAN But who is he?
- 2nd WOMAN What does he look like?
- CHOP Ah ha! We have an eyewitness description of him.
- SUEY Yes. [Consults his notebook.] My mother's next door neighbour's second cousin's number one son told my mother's next door neighbour's second cousin, who told my mother's next door neighbour, who told my mother, who told me!
- CHOP [Grabbing the notebook and hitting SUEY. ALL laugh.] He is believed to be wearing – [SHE now describes what ALADDIN is wearing.] Has anyone seen him?
- ALL [Ad lib.] No sorry. Doesn't ring a bell. Not anyone from around here etc. etc.
- CHOP Well keep your eyes peeled. This villain must be apprehended. [To SUEY.] Come on Suey, we must be on our way. At the double. [CHOP and SUEY run at double time around the stage, bump into each other and exit.]
- ALADDIN What an idiotic pair. How did they ever get into the police force?
- 2nd MAN Aladdin, have you been climbing the walls of the Palace again?
- ALADDIN Well – maybe just for a quick peek into the garden.
- 3rd WOMAN One of these days the Peking Police will catch you.
- 1st MAN And then you'll be for the chop!
- ALADDIN [Hand to his throat.] Mm, I know. But it's worth it if I can see the Princess Jasmine.
- 1st WOMAN Oh you have got it bad.
- ALADDIN [Sighing.] I know. But she is the most beautiful girl in the whole of Peking.
- 2nd MAN And you're just the son of a lowly washerwoman, so you stand no chance with the Princess, even if you did get to meet her.
- ALADDIN Don't be too sure of that. I intend to make something of myself. Become someone important and then I can ask her to marry me!

2nd WOMAN How do you intend to do that?

ALADDIN [Hesitantly.] Well – I don't know just yet. It may be a problem, but one I intend to overcome.

SONG – ALADDIN AND CHORUS

[At the end of the number a lot of noise and shouting is heard off and WISHEE WASHEE enters on an old broken down bicycle with a laundry basket piled high with washing attached to the front.]

WISHEE [As he enters.] Watch out. Runaway laundry basket approaching. Help! Clear the road. [The CHORUS runs off as HE circles the stage, narrowly missing ALADDIN and disappears into the wings. There is a sound effect of him crashing into all sorts of things.] Owwww.

ALADDIN Wishee what are you doing? [WISHEE staggers back on with various articles of washing around his shoulders and carrying the rest in the basket.]

WISHEE Mum asked me to collect the laundry from our regulars, so I thought I'd use that old bike.

ALADDIN But the brakes on that haven't worked for years.

WISHEE So I've just found out!

ALADDIN Here, let me give you a hand. [HE takes some of the washing and they put the basket by the laundry door.]

WISHEE Thanks Aladdin. Although Mom asked you to do this job. Where have you been all morning?

ALADDIN Oh just out for a walk.

WISHEE A walk, eh? [Suddenly in a panic.] Oh no not to the Palace again. You've been looking at the Princess, haven't you?

ALADDIN Oh Wishee, she's so beautiful. I couldn't resist it.

WISHEE But can you resist being arrested? If you're caught you'll be strung up and.....

ALADDIN So everyone keeps telling me. But what else can I do? I've just got to meet her.

WISHEE You may as well put that idea right out of your head. Even at today's Royal Parade the Emperor has insisted that all eyes be averted when she passes by.

ALADDIN [Surprised.] Royal Parade? You mean she'll be walking through these very streets today?

WISHEE [Wishing he hadn't said that.] No! No I didn't mean that. I meant the other side of town. [Pointing into the audience.] Way, way over there.

- ALADDIN You said these very streets.
- WISHEE No – no I didn't. [Pushing his hands to his mouth.] Look – I'm eating my words! Rewind! I never said anything.
- ALADDIN Oh this is just the chance I've been waiting for. I'll try to attract her attention and get her to talk to me.
- WISHEE NO!!
- ALADDIN Thank you Wishee. [HE exits into the house left. WISHEE paces around the stage.]
- WISHEE Thank me? For what? Giving them a reason to arrest you? Then what will happen? I'll have to do all the work – that's what! [Dithering all over the stage.] Oh I'm all of a dither – [To someone in the audience.] – are you all of a dither, missus? No? Well you should be. This is a worrying situation. My lovesick brother could get himself into a lot of bother. Oh I must calm down. [Sees the sign down right.] Hello, what's this? [Reads.] "China Tea – Soothing and Calming". Just what I need. [HE pours himself a cup, drinks and starts to relax.] Ha! That's better. I feel much calmer now. I must remember this. Never know when I might need another one. I know – do you think you could help me? [Audience reaction.] When you see me getting all of a dither about something and I say "I'm worried" – will you remind me to have a cup of tea? [Audience reaction.] Will you? Oh that's wonderful. Just shout out "have a cup of tea" and that will remind me. Shall we have a trial run? When you hear me say, "I'm worried" shout out "have a cup of tea". Here we go then. [HE walks around the stage.] Oh that brother of mine. He gets himself into all sorts of trouble. I do worry about him – I am – I'm worried. [Audience shouts out, but WISHEE doesn't hear them. HE crosses down stage.] Did you shout? Well I didn't hear you. You'll have to shout really loud to remind me. Let's have another go. [HE resumes walking around the stage.] I wish Aladdin wouldn't go looking at the Princess. If he gets caught it'll be the end of him. Oh I am worried. I'm really worried. [Audience shouts out and WISHEE turns, smiles and pours a cup of tea.] Oh that was much better. [HE drinks.] Now I've got nothing to worry about!
- TWANKEY [Off left.] Wishee. Wishee, where are you?
- WISHEE Oh that's Mom. She'll be wanting all this laundry. [The door to the left house opens and WIDOW TWANKEY enters. SHE holds up an enormous pair of brightly coloured bloomers in front of her.] Mother! Pull you skirt down when you bend over!
- TWANKEY [Lowering the bloomers.] They're not mine, you cheeky young thing. They're from a new client. [Reading the label.] A Mrs S. Claus, care of the North Pole. [SHE gives him the bloomers.]
- WISHEE But it's miles away. Can't we post them?
- TWANKEY No, she'll need them right away. It gets very draughty sitting on a sleigh in the middle of winter.
- WISHEE Not only draughty! [Holding his nose.] Behind a load reindeers.

TWANKEY Now Wishee, no far.... [SHE realises what SHE was about to say and changes her mind.] farmyard jokes! I want you to help me hang out the last lot of washing.

WISHEE But Mum

TWANKEY Don't "but Mum" me. It's a beautiful day. Really good drying weather.

TWANKEY [Calling after him as he exits.] And get that brother of yours to give you a hand. [To the audience.] He's a good lad really. [SHE peers out into the auditorium.] Well it's nice to see you all. Are you all together or haven't you been introduced? What? You don't know each other? We can't have that. Here in Peking we're a friendly lot, so let me introduce myself. I'm Widow Twankey and I run this Garment Cleansing Establishment! That's laundry to you lot! Now what are your names? Come on, don't be shy. Everyone shout out their name after three. Ready? One – two – three. [The audience shouts out.] There we are. Now all of you know me and I know all of you! But do you know each other? [Audience reaction.] That's easily solved. Turn to the person next to you. [SHE encourages them to do so.] Now repeat after me. [SHE should wait until the audience responds to each phrase.] Hello. – How are you? – I'm very pleased to meet you. – Do you come here often? – Lend me a fiver! [Audience reaction. WIDOW TWANKEY quietens them down and continues.] There – now we're all friends. I like to have friends – 'cos I was very lonely as a child. ["Ah's from audience.] I was! Nobody would talk to me 'cos I was so ugly. When I was born the midwife slapped my parents! And they never bothered with me. They were in the iron and steel business. Mom used to iron and Dad used to steal! Then I met my husband. What a charmer he turned out to be. When we got married he told me my life would be like a fairy tale. He was right, it was Grimm! I had to tell the neighbours that he had royal connections. He was always away at Her Majesty's pleasure! But I do have my two sons who give me a hand in the laundry – now and then. Talking of them, where have they got to with the washing? [SHE crosses to the house left and calls.] Wishee. Aladdin. Where's that clothesline? [SHE crosses back to down centre.]

ALADDIN [Off.] Coming Mum. [HE enters and crosses down to TWANKEY. WISHEE follows him holding the end of a washing line that has to be long enough to stretch across the stage into the wings. On the line is a varied assortment of clothes.]

WISHEE We've pegged all the clothes on.

TWANKEY [Pointing off right.] Tie it off over there.

WISHEE Right O, Mum. [HE exits pulling the washing line. During the next dialogue HE should run around the set to re-enter through the laundry door. Stagehands keep the line travelling across the stage.]

TWANKEY [To ALADDIN.] And where have you been since first thing this morning?

ALADDIN Oh just around and about.

TWANKEY Yes – around and about the vicinity of the Palace, I'll bet.

ALADDIN Well, I may have passed by.

TWANKEY Oh Aladdin, what have I told you? You'll get caught one day and then where will I be? No number one son to carry on the business.

ALADDIN Oh Mum, I don't want to spend the rest of my life working in a laundry. I've got ambitions. I've got dreams.

TWANKEY Dreams are all well and good, but they don't pay the off licence bill ... I mean the rent.

ALADDIN One day I'll have enough money to buy a hundred laundries.

TWANKEY You'd better buy a farm as well to keep all those flying pigs in! [SHE crosses right and calls off.] Have you tied that line off Wishee?

[WISHEE enters from the laundry holding the other end of the line.]

WISHEE Nearly there Mum. [HE crosses right, trips and falls and the line goes whizzing off.]

TWANKEY Now look what you've done. All the washing's fallen onto the dirty street. I'll have to do it all again! [SHE starts to push them both off right.] Come on. There'll be no lunch for either of you until it's done. [With ALADDIN and WISHEE protesting they ALL exit right. The lights dim slightly and ABANAZAR enters down left.]

ABANAZAR [Looking around.] Peking. My search for the lamp is nearing its end. Now all I have to do is find this boy Aladdin and persuade him to retrieve the lamp from the cave. I'll summon my slave of the ring to guide me to where he is. [HE holds up his hand and rubs the ring. The SLAVE OF THE RING appears down right.]

SLAVE Here I am to do your bidding, master. But be quick about it will you, the East Enders omnibus [Or another TV programme.] is about to start!

ABANAZAR This boy Aladdin that you spoke of. I wish you to find his home. Where is it?

SLAVE Is that all? Have you dragged me out here just for that?

ABANAZAR Don't speak to me like that! You are my slave, now answer my question.

SLAVE All right, dearie. Keep your hair on! It's where you'd expect it to be in pantomime.

ABANAZAR Eh?

SLAVE [Slightly sarcastically.] It's behind you!

ABANAZAR What? [HE turns and sees the laundry.] Widow Twankey's Laundry. Ah yes. The son of a washerwoman. This must be the place. [To the SLAVE.] That will be all. [SHE rolls her eyes at the audience and exits down right.] Now I can get to the boy, gain his confidence and have him retrieve the magic lamp from the hidden cave. And then the whole world will be mine. [HE laughs evilly. Audience 'boo' and HE turns on them angrily.] Oh be quiet you pathetic lot or I shall turn you all into Chinese dragons – [Does a double take at someone in the audience.] – which in your case would be an improvement. [There is a commotion and WISHEE and ALADDIN enter right both carrying a large pile of washing. WIDOW TWANKEY follows.]

- TWANKEY I want every bit of this washing done again before tonight or else there'll be no lunch, no dinner and no supper! Go on get in there and get started. [WISHEE and ALADDIN exit into laundry - ad libbing.]
- ABANAZAR [Approaching TWANKEY.] Madam, have I the honour of addressing the owner of this fine establishment?
- TWANKEY [To the audience.] Oh girls, it's - [Name of film or pop star.] Yes, that's right. I am Tomasina Twankey, widow of the parish.
- ABANAZAR Splendid. I've just come
- TWANKEY You've come to get your laundry done. [SHE sniffs at him.] And not a moment too soon! We've got a special offer on this week. Cut price deals on all underwear. Knickers are down!
- ABANAZAR No madam, I've not come about laundry, I've come about your son Aladdin.
- TWANKEY Aladdin? What do you want with him? [Suddenly thinking he is with the police.] Oh it's not about him trying to get a look at the Princess is it? I've told him about it and he's promised never to do it again. [SHE falls to her knees.] Oh please don't take him away from me! [SHE starts pleading and wailing.] I need him here to help me in the laundry. I'm an old woman and I need all the help I can get.
- ABANAZAR Madam I
- TWANKEY [Suddenly normal voice.] Hang on, I haven't finished yet! [Back to pleading.] It's hard enough trying to make ends meet. Ever since my husband passed on life's been getting more and more difficult. [SHE clings to his robes. Big dramatics.] Oh sir, please don't take him, I beg you. Please! Please! PLEASE!! [Normal voice again as SHE gets up.] All right - you can carry on now.
- ABANAZAR I merely wanted to tell him that I am his long lost Uncle. Uncle Abanazar.
- TWANKEY Uncle Howsyerfather? I've never heard of you.
- ABANAZAR That's because I've been away for many, many years, roaming the globe in search of gold and jewels.
- TWANKEY Gold and jewels? Does that mean you're rich?
- ABANAZAR Filthy rich!
- TWANKEY And you've come to us for a good wash!
- ABANAZAR I've realised all too late in life that no matter how much money you have, you're penniless without a family around you.

TWANKEY I should be so poor!

ABANAZAR So you see as Aladdin is your eldest son and I have no one else in the world – he will be heir to my fortune.

TWANKEY Well that'll be nice for him [Realising what he has said.] Heir to your fortune? You mean he's going to be rich?

ABANAZAR Eventually.

TWANKEY [Running to the laundry door.] Aladdin! Aladdin come here – quickly.

ALADDIN [Off.] I thought you wanted this washing doing.

TWANKEY Never mind the washing. Come here. [ALADDIN enters and crosses down to them. WISHEE follows.] This is your long lost Uncle Aberystwyth!

ABANAZAR Abanazar.

TWANKEY He's come all the way from sunny Wales to meet you! [Aside to ALADDIN.] And he's got some very exciting news.

ALADDIN Long lost Uncle? I didn't know father had a brother.

TWANKEY [To ABANAZAR.] Come to think of it, he never mentioned you.

ABANAZAR I was the black sheep of the family. I left home many years ago.

WISHEE [Aside to ALADDIN.] I don't know whether you should trust him Aladdin. He looks a bit mysterious to me.

ALADDIN What do you mean?

WISHEE I don't know, but I'd be careful. He looks a bit scary. I'm worried he's not who he says he is. I am – I'm very worried. [Audience calls out. WISHEE has a cup of tea.]

TWANKEY [To ALADDIN.] He's very rich and wants to share his lolly with us.

ALADDIN Really?

ABANAZAR Life has been good to me my boy. And as recompense for deserting the family all those years ago, I want you to benefit.

TWANKEY Oh just think of it. No more washing and ironing.

WISHEE No more scrumping and saving!

ALADDIN So Uncle, this fortune you say you've amassed. When are we going to see it?

ABANAZAR Soon. Very soon. There's something I want you to do for me first.

ALADDIN I thought there'd be a catch.

ABANAZAR No, there's no catch. I just want help with a little job and as a reward you'll have wealth beyond your imagination.

TWANKEY 'ere, you don't want him to rob a bank, do you?

ABANAZAR [Laughing.] Rob a bank – you'll be able to buy your own bank this time tomorrow.

WISHEE I say! Do you need a hand?

ABANAZAR [Sharply.] No! [Softly.] No thank you. Aladdin will be able to manage on his own. [Taking ALADDIN to one side of the stage.] I'll explain everything later. Meet me at sunset behind the laundry.

ALADDIN Sunset behind the laundry.

TWANKEY [Hearing this and turning to WISHEE.] Sunset behind the laundry.

WISHEE [Turning to no one.] Sunset behind the [HIS voice trails off.]

ABANAZAR Soon everything you've ever wished for will become a reality. Until later. [To the others.] Goodbye – family! It was a pleasure to finally meet you all. [Laughing evilly towards the audience, HE exits down left.]

ALADDIN Oh Mum, I can hardly believe it. We're going to be rich!

TWANKEY And I shall finally have enough money to get that [Name of current pop idol.] CD.

WISHEE And I'll get the latest [Name of a young children's TV programme.] video!

[ALADDIN and TWANKEY give him a strange look.]

TWANKEY Come on. Let's go and start making plans. [ALL THREE exit into laundry. CHOP is heard calling off stage.]

CHOP [Off.] Make way for the Emperor and the Princess Jasmine. [The CHORUS enters excitedly. CHOP and SUEY enter up stage end cross down centre.] Stand aside all you rabble. His Celestial Highness comes.

SUEY [Pushing the crowd back.] That's right – make way for his Cholesterol Highness!

ENTRANCE OF THE EMPEROR AND PRINCESS – CHORUS

[The EMPEROR enters and crosses down centre. He carries a large fan. PRINCESS JASMINE follows him. SHE has a veil covering her face. NOTSOSHY, her handmaiden accompanies her. As the number ends the EMPEROR bows to the ensemble left then right and in doing so bumps into SUEY.]

EMPEROR Oh! My royal dignity has been damaged. [He regains his composure.] Good and loyal citizens of Peking. I come among you today for a very special reason. Sergeant Chop, read the proclamation.

- CHOP [Bowing.] At once, O mighty one. [SHE unrolls a scroll.] His Imperial Highness decrees that as the Princess Jasmine has reached her twenty first birthday, a suitor for her hand will be sought.
- SUEY Only her hand? What about the rest of her?
- CHOP [Pushing him over.] Be quiet – idiot. [Continues reading.] Candidates will only be considered if they are of a highborn family. [Begins to roll the scroll.]
- EMPEROR [Aside to CHOP.] And have pots of money!
- CHOP And have a personal fortune.
- EMPEROR That's right. No time wasters please! [To CHOP.] Continue Sergeant.
- CHOP As the ancient law of this land decrees that no one may look upon the face of the Princess until the marriage ceremony, all must avert their eyes and retire.
- SUEY But I'm only twenty-six. I'm too young to retire.
- CHOP Retire from this place, nincompoop.
- SUEY Oh I see. [To the CHORUS.] All right, everyone scarper. No peeking at the Princess. [CHOP and SUEY disperse the crowd.]
- CHOP Move along now. [The CHORUS exit.]
- SUEY [To the EMPEROR.] All clear your Chicken Chow Meinship!
- CHOP No-one around, Highness.
- EMPEROR Thank you, Sergeant. [CHOP goes to exit. SUEY just stands there. The Emperor glares at him.] Well?
- SUEY Yes thank you, your Mountainship, although I have had a bit of a twinge in my left leg!
- CHOP [Shouting.] PC Suey! [SUEY crosses to her.] Move it! [SHE pushes SUEY into the wings and they both exit.]
- EMPEROR Now Jasmine, you may remove your veil. We are quite alone.
- JASMINE [Removing the veil.] This law is quite ridiculous father. Why do I have to keep myself covered up when all the other girls can show their faces to anyone?
- EMPEROR You are not like all the other girls. You are a high born Princess and must behave like one. This tendency you have of disobeying convention is most worrying. You must change your ways if we are to make a successful marriage for you.
- JASMINE And that's another thing. Why can't I choose whom I am to marry?
- EMPEROR [Getting exasperated.] There you go again. The law states quite plainly that I shall decide who will have your hand. Besides we need to make a good match with someone who's got a bit stashed away! The royal coffers are in dire need of an injection of cash!

JASMINE So that's it. I'm just being sold off, am I?

EMPEROR I didn't meanIt's just thatOh Jasmine just do what the law dictates and let that be an end to it. Now I'm going to take my morning constitutional at the Imperial Baths. When I get back I hope you are in a more agreeable state of mind. [HE exits into the building up right, bumping into the door as he goes. ALADDIN appears at the laundry door and sees JASMINE.]

JASMINE [To NOTSOSHY.] Oh did you hear that, Notsoshy?

[NOTSOSHY is just like her name. A girl who is full of life and fun. Possibly a "jolly hockey sticks" type. A good friend and companion to the Princess.]

NOTSOSHY Certainly did your Highness.

JASMINE Sold off to the highest bidder. It's just not fair. [SHE starts to cry and NOTSOSHY comforts her.]

ALADDIN [To HIMSELF.] It's the Princess and she seems upset. I must speak to her. [HE comes out.] Your Highness.

JASMINE [Turning away and replacing her veil.] Oh!

NOTSOSHY Who are you? Don't you know it is death to look on the face of the Princess?

ALADDIN I would gladly give up my life to gaze on one who is so beautiful.

NOSOSHY How do you know her Highness is blessed with such beauty?

ALADDIN Because I have seen her.

JASMINE [Turning round.] What?

NOTSOSHY How could you? Her face is never revealed to anyone outside the Imperial Court.

ALADDIN No, but when she is walking in the Palace gardens she is plainly visible from the branches of the large willow tree.

JASMINE You have climbed that tree? But it's very dangerous.

ALADDIN I would climb a thousand trees just to get a fleeting glimpse of you, your Highness.

JASMINE [Aside to NOTSOSHY.] He is rather handsome, don't you think?

NOTSOSHY Your Highness, remember what your father said.

JASMINE But father's not here. [SHE crosses to ALADDIN.] So if you have already seen me there's not much point me wearing this veil. [SHE removes the veil.]

ALADDIN None whatever.

NOTSOSHY I say, your Highness. We could be getting into hot water!

JASMINE [Turning to her.] Keep a watch for my father. I want to talk to this headstrong young man.

NOTSOSHY But think of the trouble we could all be in.

JASMINE Oh please Notsoshy, let me have a little adventure. Leave us alone for just a few minutes.

ALADDIN [Leading NOTSOSHY towards the entrance to the baths.] Yes Notsoshy, leave us alone for just a few minutes.

NOTSOSHY Don't think you can get round me that easily.

ALADDIN [With a wink and a smile.] I would never presume such a thing! [NOTSOSHY exits into the baths and ALADDIN returns to JASMINE.]

JASMINE Would you really give up your life – just to see me?

ALADDIN Indeed.

JASMINE What is your name?

ALADDIN Aladdin.

JASMINE Aladdin. [Laughing.] I don't know whether you are very foolish or impetuously exciting.

ALADDIN The latter, I assure you. Oh Princess, you don't know how long I've dreamed of this moment.

JASMINE I too have dreamed that one day I would meet someone. Someone very special.

DUET – ALADDIN AND JASMINE

[At the end of the number they embrace. NOTSOSHY comes running on from the baths.]

NOTSOSHY Your Highness, your father is returning.

JASMINE Aladdin! Quick, you must hide.

ALADDIN But I can't leave you now.

JASMINE You must or else you will be arrested.

NOTSOSHY Yes. And they'll perform the most awful torture on you. Really gruesome with thumbscrews and hot pokers!

JASMINE Notsoshy. Don't.

NOTSOSHY Well I was only saying

EMPEROR [Off.] Jasmine. [JASMINE quickly replaces her veil and NOTSOSHY runs over to ALADDIN, pushes him behind her as the EMPEROR enters. He is not carrying his fan.] Jasmine you'll never guess who I've just bumped into in the baths. Prince Pekoe. And what do you think – he's looking to get married again.

JASMINE Prince Pekoe? But he's very old.

EMPEROR Yes dear – and very rich. I've invited him round for tea so you can get properly acquainted.

JASMINE Father!

EMPEROR Now no arguments. This may just be the chance we've been waiting for. Come along; let us get back to the Palace. [HE starts to leave then turns back.] Oh I've left my fan in the baths. Fetch it for me, will you Notsoshy?

NOTSOSHY [Dithering about. Still hiding ALADDIN.] Erbut um –

EMPEROR Quickly. We haven't got all day. [SHE tries to back off with ALADDIN behind her.] What are you doing girl? [HE sees ALADDIN.] Who's that?

ALADDIN [Coming into view.] My name is Aladdin your Highness and I am in love with your daughter.

EMPEROR [Open mouthed.] You? My daughter? [HE calls.] Police! Sergeant Chop where are you?

JASMINE Aladdin – run. [TWANKEY enters followed by WISHEE.]

TWANKEY What's all the shouting about? [Sees the EMPEROR.] Oh it's your Royal Flush! [SHE curtseys.]

EMPEROR Stop that boy.

[Pandemonium breaks out as ALADDIN tries to get away. CHOP and SUEY enter and get caught up in the melee as do the CHORUS. Everyone is bumping into everyone else. ABANAZAR enters down left to see ALADDIN almost caught.]

ABANAZAR [Casting a spell.] Abracadeeze. Everyone freeze! [ALL become statues in ridiculous poses except ALADDIN.]

ALADDIN Uncle! What's happened?

ABANAZAR Temporary paralysis! Quick run, but don't forget our rendezvous later.

ALADDIN I won't – and thank you. [ALADDIN runs off.]

ABANAZAR Let's see if you'll still be thanking me when your usefulness comes to an end. [HE laughs evilly and turns to the ensemble.] Abracadoove. Everyone move! [HE exits down left. EVERYONE unfreezes and the pandemonium continues as the lights fade and the scene changes to]

SCENE 3 BEHIND THE LAUNDRY

[A front cloth scene. As the lights come up ABANAZAR is discovered down left.]

ABANAZAR That foolish boy almost ruined my plans by nearly getting himself caught. I shall have to keep an eye on him until he has served his purpose. Now all I need to know is where the magic cave lies hidden. Time to once more summon the Slave of the Ring. [HE rubs the ring and the SLAVE appears down right.]

SLAVE [Yawning.] Ohhh, I was just having forty winks when I got this wakeup call! I was dreaming that - [Name of film star.] – and me were all alone on this desert island. Just us and the sea and the sand!

ABANAZAR I'll give you sand. You'll be buried up to your neck in it if you don't do my bidding.

SLAVE All right, chuck. All right. What do you want now?

ABANAZAR I am in Peking and have found the boy Aladdin. Now I wish to know the whereabouts of the magic cave.

SLAVE Oh you do, do you? Well I hope you've got a good pair of walking boots.

ABANAZAR Why is that?

SLAVE Because it's high in the mountains outside the city. I mean I couldn't do it – not in these shoes. They're yer actual Jimmy Choo yer know!

ABANAZAR Just tell me where.

SLAVE To the West of the town climb a steep mountain pass,
There at the top in a deep cold crevasse
The cave that you seek by a rock is concealed,
Open the cave and your prize is revealed.

ABANAZAR [Rubbing his hands.] My prize. The magic lamp! All these years of waiting and very soon it will be mine. Then nothing can stop me from becoming Abanazar, the most powerful man.

SLAVE Oi! Can I go now? I want to get back to – [Name of film star.]

ABANAZAR [Irritably.] Yes, yes. Go! [The SLAVE exits.] I must go too and prepare for tonight and the final part of my plan to become ruler of the universe. [The audience 'boo'. HE snarls at them and exits left. WISHEE runs on from stage right, out of breath.]

WISHEE Oh boys and girls. Did you see what happened? Aladdin managed to escape, but only just. Oh I was worried for him – I was very worried. [Audience shouts and WISHEE has a cup of tea.] Oh that's better. Mother has gone for a lie down and I said I'd go and look for Aladdin and try and keep him out of trouble. [HE looks off stage.] Oh here he comes now. [ALADDIN comes running on.]

ALADDIN Wishee. You haven't seen the police have you?

WISHEE No, but they're looking for you all over Peking.

ALADDIN I'll have to find somewhere to hide. Any ideas?

WISHEE No, but you'd better find somewhere soon – [HE looks off stage.] – 'cos here they come.

ALADDIN [Running behind WISHEE.] Quick hide me.

WISHEE Oh dear. I'll try to distract them. [To the audience.] Will you help me? [Ad lib with audience. CHOP and SUEY come running on.]

CHOP Hey, you there. Has a young lad come running this way?

WISHEE A young lad?

CHOP That's what I said.

WISHEE What did he look like?

SUEY Well he had a body, two legs, two arms – [CHOP hits him.]

CHOP He's a young ruffian who has broken the law by looking at the Princess.

WISHEE Oh there's no one around here who's looked at a Princess, [To the audience.] has there? [Audience reaction.]

SUEY Are you sure about that?

WISHEE Oh quite sure. My friends would have seen him too and they haven't – [To audience.] – have you? [Audience reaction.]

CHOP [Peering out at the audience.] Are they all to be trusted?

WISHEE Oh yes, they're from [Name of local area.]. They're all very honest folk – [To audience.] aren't you? [Audience reaction. CHOP and SUEY now look out at the audience. During the next sequence ALADDIN makes his escape.]

CHOP I'm not so sure about that. They look a dodgy lot to me. What do you think Suey?

SUEY I think you're right Sarge. I think this fellow here and that lot out there are hiding something. [WISHEE now starts an "Oh no we're not" sequence. Towards the end of it WIDOW TWANKEY enters.]

TWANKEY What's going on?

WISHEE Oh Mom, these two are looking for the boy who looked at the Princess this morning.

TWANKEY Oh he's not around here.

CHOP How do you know that?

TWANKEY [Pointing in the opposite direction to where ALADDIN went.] Because he's over there.

SUEY Where?

TWANKEY By that big willow tree near the Palace wall.

CHOP He's going to have a butchers at the Princess again! After him. [In an effort to make a quick exit CHOP and SUEY fall over each other.]

WISHEE Oh Mom, do you know where Aladdin is?

TWANKEY Yes. He's back in the laundry. No one will think of looking for him there.

WISHEE Oh I hope not. All this fuss has got me very worried. Very worried indeed. [Audience reacts and WISHEE has a cup of tea.]

TWANKEY I don't know about drinking tea. We've got to get back and make a start on that laundry. Come on.

[NOTE: If the duet for Chop and Suey is not required, end the scene here.]

WISHEE All right Mom. [SHE pushes him off stage as CHOP and SUEY run back on.]

TWANKEY No luck boys?

CHOP No, but we'll catch him. It's only a matter of time.

SUEY No one can escape the boys in blue.

CHOP Yellow. The boys in yellow!

SUEY Oh yes!

TWANKEY Knowing you're around makes me feel really safe! [SHE exits.]

NUMBER – CHOP AND SUEY

[At the end of the number THEY exit as the lights fade to black out and the scene changes to]

SCENE 4 THE BOUDOIR OF THE PRINCESS

[A small inset tastefully decorated with an oriental chaise covered with pillows of various sizes and colours. JASMINE is sitting on the chaise with the EMPEROR standing to one side. NOTSOSHY is in attendance.]

EMPEROR Now really Jasmine, this won't do. At least see Prince Pekoe and talk to him.

JASMINE Father how could you even think that I would want to marry him. He's older than you!

EMPEROR Jasmine!

JASMINE Well he is. And he's deaf. I'd be hoarse in a week trying to make myself heard.

[NOTSOSHY giggles and gets a look from the EMPEROR.]

EMPEROR Well I'll admit he's not much of a catch, but he's rich. And a marriage like that would benefit our country.

JASMINE But what about me? I don't want to marry for money; I want to marry for love.

EMPEROR I'm afraid in affairs of state you have very little to say on the matter. Now be a good girl and tidy yourself up. I shall expect you to join us shortly.

JASMINE But

EMPEROR Jasmine, that is a royal command! [HE exits.]

JASMINE [Almost in tears with rage.] Oh how could he? How could he?

NOTSOSHY Oh steady on there your Highness. There must be a way out of all of this.

JASMINE [Defiant.] I'll run away. That's what I'll do. I'll go where no one knows me.

NOTSOSHY Very few people know you now, your Highness, as you are forbidden to appear in public.

JASMINE That's right. I shall finally be free to come and go as I please.

NOTSOSHY Then there is the problem of where to live.

JASMINE [With a frown.] Oh – yes.

NOTSOSHY And what to do about food.

JASMINE Well

NOTSOSHY And what to wear. Your fine clothes would be a dead give-away in the streets of Peking.

JASMINE [Deflated.] Oh Notsoshy, you're right. I'd be found out in no time.

NOTSOSHY I'm afraid so your Highness.

JASMINE Oh what am I going to do? [A thought comes to her.] If only Aladdin could come and whisk me away.

NOTSOSHY [Shocked.] Aladdin?

JASMINE Oh yes. You must admit that he is handsome.

NOSOSHY Well I suppose so, in a peasantry sort of way.

JASMINE And so exciting. Imagine him climbing trees to catch a glimpse of me, and declaring his love for me to my father.

NOTSOSHY Bid of a chump I'd say.

JASMINE Why is it that the one man I feel something for is likely to be arrested at any minute?

NOTSOSHY [Her hand to her throat.] Oh, your Highness.

JASMINE What am I going to do?

NOSOSHY Well right now your father will be expecting you.

JASMINE Don't remind me.

NOSOSHY I'll prepare a bath and scent it with aromatic oils. Maybe after that you'll feel a little better.

JASMINE Thank you Notsoshy. What would I do without you?

NOTSOSHY Run your own bath! [SHE snorts a laugh and exits.]

JASMINE Oh Aladdin. Would that you were a Prince and could take me away from all this.

SONG – PRINCESS

[At the end of the song the lights fade and the scene changes to]

SCENE 5 BEHIND THE LAUNDRY

[The front cloth as in scene 3. WISHEE enters.]

WISHEE Do you know boys and girls I'm rushed off my feet. There's so much work to be done I don't know whether I'm coming or going. I've nipped out for a breather while Mom wasn't looking. She's too busy making sure the police don't find Aladdin. That brother of mine is so determined to see the Princess again. And that could mean the end for him. Oh I am worried about him, I'm really worried. [Audience reaction. WISHEE has a cup of tea. NOTSOSHY enters carrying a big bag of washing. WISHEE turns and bumps into her and her washing spills out onto the stage.]

NOTSOSHY I say. Watch where you're going.

WISHEE Oh I'm terribly sorry. [HE looks at her and is immediately smitten.] Oh!

NOTSOSHY It's a good job I was on my way to the laundry and not collecting clean clothes.

WISHEE Let me give you a hand. [THEY start to put washing back into the bag.] I'm Wishee Washee. I work at the laundry.

NOTSOSHY [SHE looks at him for the first time and is attracted.] Oh do you?

WISHEE Yes. And I promise to personally handle your – [HE realises he is holding a bra.] – your
